

YOUR ISIR INDICATES YOU HAVE CANCELLED A PRIOR LOAN DUE TO PERMANENT DISABILITY

If you have a student loan that was cancelled because of total and permanent disability and you wish to borrow new student loan funds:

- 1. You must obtain certification from a legally licensed physician stating your condition has improved and you have the ability to engage in substantial gainful activity or can attend school.
(This must be on the physician's office letterhead and also be signed by the physician.)
- 2. You (the student) must provide a written statement indicating that you are aware that the new student loan you are applying for cannot be later canceled on the basis of any present impairment unless your condition substantially deteriorates to the extent that the definition of total and permanent disability is again met. This statement must be signed and dated by you.

*Failure to provide the above documentation will result in a delay of federal student aid funds.

A PRIOR DISABILITY DOES NOT STOP YOU FROM APPLYING FOR A NEW STUDENT LOAN, BUT CERTAIN STEPS NEED TO BE TAKEN TO ENSURE YOUR ELIGIBILITY.
